

The Brown Community Organizing Initiative presents

STUDENTS AND THE FUTURE OF COMMUNITY ORGANIZING

A Free, Virtual Conference for Students, Teachers, and Community Organizers

Naugatuck Valley Project (NVP) leaders in Waterbury, Connecticut celebrate the conclusion of a leadership workshop.

In democratic countries, knowledge of how to combine is the mother of all other forms of knowledge: on its progress depends that of all others.

PLEASE JOIN US TO DISCUSS

- How we sustain ourselves in the midst of challenges related to organizing for social change.
- How we approach our teaching: context, goals, course content, pedagogy, resources, and how our students' backgrounds, aims, and interests shape the way we teach.
- How we can share course syllabi and other resources, experiential methods, archival material.
- How we can continue to expand this conversation to include additional students, organizers and community leaders, researchers and archivists.
